The DELABIE Group, an expert in accessibility in public places, having already presented us with the Be-Line® drop-down, removable support rail, now offers the drop-down support rail with a leg; meeting the need for safety and accessibility in all installations.

Design & Well-being

DELABIE continues its quest to deliver design for all with its Be-Line® range, demonstrating a combination of comfort and aesthetics in public places. Be-Line® removes the stigmatising and medical aspects of accessible equipment designed for those who have temporarily, partially or permanently lost their autonomy.

Designing pleasant and accessible washrooms is a challenge that the Be-Line® drop-down support rail rises to admirably. Its design-led concept features clean lines and a discreet aesthetic to blend naturally into washroom spaces. Available in metallised anthracite or matte white powder-coated aluminium, this drop-down rail provides a strong visual contrast with the wall, adapting to all decorative styles.

Safety and Living well

The Be-Line® drop-down, removable support rail has a rounded profile which, combined with an ergonomic flat front face, prevents rotation for an optimal grip. In addition to its safety pack comprising a 10-year warranty, CE mark, and testing to over 200kg, this Be-Line® drop-down rail has a leg which offers additional security to the user when a wall fixed version is insufficient. This leg also provides instant reassurance for people with reduced mobility who find using washrooms outside of the home a complicated and sometimes even frightening experience.

This Be-Line® drop-down support rail takes up minimal space when in the raised position. Since it is removable, it can also reduce the number of support rails installed in establishments which offer temporary accommodation such as hospitals and hotels. The support rail is therefore installed when required by the user, and when it is removed, it can be replaced by a cover.

For everyone

The design of this drop-down support rail transcends generations and can be used by anyone, regardless of their age or degree of autonomy. In public and commercial buildings, the user is unknown, so it is necessary to provide accessible equipment that can be used in every eventuality.

The Be-Line® range, which includes the drop-down rails as well as grab bars and shower seats, aims to deliver a feeling of well-being and living well by making the shared use of all sanitary spaces more pleasant, whether they are showers, toilets or washbasins.

PRODUCT BRIEF / THE DROP-DOWN SUPPORT RAIL, IT'S GOT LEG(S)!

The DELABIE Group, an expert in accessibility in public places, introduced the new Be-Line® drop-down, removable support rail a few months ago, now it has unveiled a version with a leg. Combining aesthetics and comfort, design and discretion, well-being and safety, this drop-down support rail with leg is not only suitable for all users - the elderly, people with reduced mobility or disabled people - but also for those installations which require additional reinforcement.
