Hygiene first and foremost!

Hygiene and controlling bacterial proliferation

Water savings

Vandal-resistant

DELABIE turns the spotlight on its new SPORTING 2 electronic shower panel - the latest addition to the range. It is hygienic, adaptable, durable and economic all at the same time.

A totally hygienic solution

The SPORTING 2 electronic shower panel guarantees impeccable hygiene. Thanks to its electronic technology, it needs no manual contact to operate it, preventing the spread of germs. The water flow opens and closes when the hands are waved in front of the sensor. A flush of about 60 seconds takes place every 24 hours after the last use to flush the water system. This helps to fight against bacterial proliferation that occurs when water stagnates in the pipework. This product also features a scale-resistant shower head which reinforces its hygienic nature.

Adapting to its environment

It is easy to install, thanks to a swivelling connector which adjusts according to the position of the water inlet. The water supply can be connected to the top or rear of the panel. Installing a shower panel has never been easier. This adaptation is also convenient, since one reference can be stocked instead of two. To improve user comfort, DELABIE also offers an option with a rain effect shower head.

Foolproof resistance

The combination of anodised aluminium and satin finish chrome render this panel resistant to any act of vandalism. Its streamlined design reduces the risk of harm and discourages attempts to pull it off the wall, and its shower head is fixed and tamper-proof. The combination of these elements makes SPORTING 2 a durable and secure product.

A lower cost investment

Its electronic system generates 80% water savings compared to a conventional shower. The user can interrupt the water flow at any time by waving their hand in front of the sensor. If the user forgets to shut off the flow, a safety timer shuts off the water after 60 seconds, which avoids the risk of waste. Its infrared active pulse technology is a solution with low energy consumption while optimising detection. Its flow rate is pre-set at 6 lpm, which gives it an economic advantage, not only in terms of water saving, but also for energy saving, having to heat less water as a consequence.

The battery-operated model operates independently for 350,000 cycles, i.e. 3 to 6 years. Finally, its price is very attractive, especially for an electronic solution.
